for the April 30th CWL

The Art of the Brag

When complimented about a job well done,
do you deflect the praise and state that your team deserves all the credit?

Do you think that if you focus solely on doing a good job at work, you'll get noticed and get the promotion you deserve?

When others take credit for the work you've done,
do you correct the impression?

Join accomplished women leaders and women on the road to the top,
for a lively, results-oriented discussion of this career roadblock and others.
